NATIONAL Lumber

Since 1934, family-owned and operated National Lumber Company has been servicing the building industry throughout New England. With our five lumberyard distribution locations, five project centers, and six Kitchen Views showrooms, and now the creation of National Millwork, National Lumber has grown into the largest independent lumber/building materials dealer in New England. Carefully managed growth has enabled us to retain the high-quality customer service and financial flexibility of a small family-owned company while providing the product selection and value-added services of a large company.

In 1999, National Lumber expanded its distribution of doors, windows and trim into a specialized full-fledged Millwork Division housed separately adjacent to our Mansfield headquarters. Increasing contractor requests for custom millwork items for the high-end custom home building industry led to the development of an in-house custom millwork shop. With steadily growing sales fueled by efficient manufacturing relationships with national vendors, this division will grow to over $50 million in annual sales in the near future. This tremendous growth led to the creation of National Millwork and their move to a separate facility to house their workshop, warehouse, shipping and offices in 2006.

In 2003, National opened its first, 6,000-square foot Kitchen Views designer showroom in the Boston suburb of Newton Center. The showroom features 12 homelike vignettes displaying custom cabinetry, countertops and decorative hardware in a variety of styles and motifs. Additional Kitchen Views cabinetry showrooms opened in Newton Highlands and Mansfield in 2004, New Bedford in 2005, followed by Berlin and Salem in 2007.

“With everything in building materials, PLUS the SERVICES you deserve,” National Lumber is “one-stop shopping” for all contractors and homeowners throughout New England.
